

September 07 Meeting

The Nanaimo Computer Club started off the new year with a presentation by Norm Silverstone from London Dugs. As usual, Norm had many new items for the computer users to discover and examine.

Nanaimo Computer Club says farewell to Norm Silverstone. Norm has been a steady presenter at our meetings and has always had a plethora of “goodies” from London Drugs for computers buffs. Norm is retiring this month and we wish him well in his travels and photography projects.

Norm has been one of our most popular guest speakers. His presentations are always laced with humour. They are never dull. Norm always answers questions with a smile. He willingly shares his considerable knowledge of computers and photography with his audience and his customers.

The Nanaimo Computer Club will miss Norm, but we wish him all the best in his retirement years.
